Paragraphs of the Week

The Census Bureau at Washington has disclosed that Portland led all other Maine cities in industrial activities in 1937.

State and local police, assisted by Joseph A. P. Flynn and Mahlon Ellis of the State Insurance Department, are investigating a fire which started in the Spa Cafe, Rumford, early Tuesday morning, and went out after scorching the kitchen floor.

Union (AFL) officials are dealing out $10,000 weekly benefits to 1,000 strikers, as a result of southern New England's truck strike. Strikers, who are seeking increased wages and improved working conditions, are to maintain resistance indefinitely.

A Canadian air transport company is seeking to fly over Maine on a Montreal-Halifax route. Portland and South Portland Councils have requested action to be withheld on application by Civil Aeronautics Authority; suggests permission be deferred until it can be shown that Maine will benefit from the action.

Agricultural officials at Washington have notified Rep. Brewster that New York firms are interested in docking vessels along Penobscot River. This indicates an increased export market for Maine seed potatoes.

CIO labor union and its president, William Leader, were ordered to pay the Apex Hosiery Company, Philadelphia, $711,930, when found responsible, by a Federal court jury Monday, for damages received during a sit-down strike of the company in May 1937.

Irving Feigin, 20, inexperienced mountain climber of Brooklyn, N. Y., died Monday, while attempting to descend Breakneck Cliff, near Beacon, N. Y., when he apparently tripped and fell from a narrow ledge and strangled to death when he became entangled in his safety rope.

Two Naval Reserve planes crashed in mid-air at Braintree, Mass., Tuesday. A pilot and two mechanics were burned to death; the other pilot was killed in attempting a parachute jump.

Albert Clary, 17, of Boston plunged into the South Bay Channel Monday to rescue Evangeline Pittarys, 19, despondent Nashua, N. H., girl.

Prime Minister Chamberlain, in a message before the House of Commons Monday, invited the world to join in preventing expansion of Germany.

United States has charged Germany with seeking to paralyze world trade with Hitler-supported barter system and declared that Nazi policies are responsible for the boycott against German goods in the United States.

King Ghazi I of Iraq was killed in an auto accident Tuesday, thus making his three-year-old son, Faisal, youngest monarch in the world. The council has appointed the baby's uncle, Emir Abdul Ilah, provisional regent.

The President warned Congress that if any riders are placed on the tax bill increasing tariff duties, particularly on vegetable oils and fats, he will veto the bill. He declares that any tariff increases will endanger Secretary Hull's reciprocal trade program, by discriminating against foreign farmers in favor of our own people.

Washington started its annual "cherry blossom festival" Friday with ceremonies at the Tidal Basin, where the rows of cherry trees originally presented to the country by Japan are now in full bloom.

Jerome Frank, long considered one of the leaders of the New Deal, was snubbed when the President appointed Leon Henderson chairman of the Securities & Exchange Commission. Frank is a member of the Commission and expected to be elevated to the Chairmanship to succeed William O. Douglas, recently appointed to the Supreme Court.

COUNTY FARM BUREAU LEADERS WILL MEET

The annual spring meeting of the Oxford County Farm Bureau executive committee will be held at South Paris on Thursday, April 13. Some of the things which will be discussed at this meeting are: the progress of the 1939 Extension program, finances, and plans for county-wide Farm Bureau activities during the remainder of the year. Reports of Farm and Home Week will be given by Edmund Smith and Mrs. Edith Howe, who were delegates from the county. George E. Lord, assistant director of the Extension Service, will represent the state office.

Members of the executive committee are: Edmund C. Smith, Bethel, president; Paul Wadsworth, Hiram, vice-president; Mrs. Cleora Adams, East Sumner, secretary; Austin P. Stearns, Jr., South Paris, treasurer; Guy Bartlett, E. Bethel, agricultural economics; Mrs. Edith Howe, E. Bethel, clothing; Mrs. Addelynn Mann, Bryant Pond, clubs; Shirley B. Benson, Fryeburg, crops; Howard Goddard, N. Rumford, dairy; Mrs. Ada B. Brooks, Denmark, foods; Fred A. Milton, Andover, forestry; Mrs. Cora Twitchell, South Paris, home management; Oayma J. Colby, S. Paris, orchard; and A. L. Sanderson, Harrison, poultry.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. Sadie Allen was given a surprise party Saturday evening in honor of her birthday by Mrs. J. B. Chapman and Mrs. Beatrice Thompson. The party also celebrated the opening of Mrs. Allen's new restaurant. Cards were enjoyed and refreshments including two birthday cakes were served. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. George Dresser, Mr. and Mrs. Louis West, Joyce Parsons, all of Norway; Mr. and Mrs. Harold James, Berlin; Mrs. E. P. Brown, Mrs. A. S. Grover, Mrs. W. H. Thurston, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Ford, Mrs. Roger Foster, Mrs. Marsha Philbrick, Mrs. J. B. Chapman, Mrs. Roy Brown, Mrs. Beatrice Thompson, David Kirk, Rodney James, Mary Lou Chapman, Robert, Verna, Earl, Rita and Rena Thompson, and the honor guest.

A Senate Committee headed by Senator Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana is having plenty of fun investigating alleged discrimination in the promotion of women clerks in the various government departments. Senator Ellender is attempting to prove, and is making a very good job of it, that good looks are a much more potent factor in obtaining advancement in the government service for the female employees than experience or college degrees.

The President has announced a plan for the sale of surplus cotton to Great Britain with an export subsidy which will cover up the losses which the government has already suffered by loaning an average of 10 cents a pound on cotton which is now worth eight cents.

BASEBALL PRACTICE STARTS AT GOULD

In spite of the delay of the departure of winter, the baseball players and coaches are optimistically looking forward to the time when they will be able to get out and throw the ball around. The battery men have already reported in the gym and a preliminary cut has been made leaving the following on the squad: Pitchers: D. Holt, C. Crockett, M. Brooks, R. Angel, E. Palmer, E. Miller, N. Amato, G. Gameson, C. Tucker. Catchers: R. Billings, F. Clough, H. Young, V. Adams, L. Baker, H. Foote.

Prospects for the season appear both good and bad. There is a scarcity of pitchers and catchers with experience that more or less offsets the wealth of infield and outfield material returning. It is because of this fact that coaches Myers and Clark have had about every boy in school trying out for these positions in the hope that they might make a "find." Their endeavors have been more or less satisfactory and several promising pitchers and catchers are working out daily.

C. OF C. SPEAKER EXPLAINS PROBATE PROCEDURE

Earle R. Clifford, Register of Probate, of South Paris was the speaker at the meeting of the Bethel Chamber of Commerce at the Legion Rooms Tuesday evening. After extending greetings from the South Paris Chamber of Commerce and a brief account of their problems and achievements, he gave a very instructive talk on the functions of his department. After the discourse he answered the questions of several members.

At the business meeting action was taken to replace the Bethel signs which were erected last summer and recently broken down during road plowing operations, and also to establish a local information bureau.

Preceding the meeting supper was served to 16 members and three visitors by the ladies of the American Legion Auxiliary.

More than 1900 persons attended Farm and Home Week at the University of Maine last week, a number only slightly less than the record-breaking attendance in 1938, when a special extension anniversary program was featured.

A publication on the fifth step toward poultry profits, "Avoid Crowding," is now available from County Agents and from the University of Maine Extension Service, Orono. The circular is one of eight being prepared by Frank D. Reed, extension poultryman. Single copies are free to residents of Maine.

Maine commercial potato growers who participated in the potato acreage control program in 1938 planted 143,727 acres of potatoes, or 99.7% of their total allotment of 144,230 acres. The allotment was 94% of the average acreage for the years 1936-37. These figures do not include an estimated 14,200 acres grown on non-commercial farms.

Approximately 90%, or 7171 growers, participated in the program. Nine of the ten largest growers participated. The tenth did not take part because another farm in which he was interested exceeded his allotment, although on the grower's own farm the potato acreage was within his allotment.

Many homemade silos built according to plans prepared by the University of Maine Extension Service have proved their value in years of service. At least 15 or 20 years' use is assured from one of these homemade silos. Although cement, stone or brick structures last much longer, the stave silo is still a good investment. The home made silo can be erected by two or three men in one day. No extra staging is required. The Extension Service is printing a new bulletin on the homemade silo telling what materials are needed and how to build it.

Lavender Lining

By MARY WAVERLY

© Associated Newspapers, WNU Service.

LOU EM shook out the fur coat almost savagely. So this was the end of her dreams of comfort. A punishment, some would say, for her ever thinking of a little home in the country, all her own, and fat little cheeks coming in every month to keep the home fire burning. As if she wished harm to old Aunt Louise Emeline. But dreams and wishes were done now. Charities had received aunt's money, and to Lou Em had come some boxes of ancient clothing. The coat among them. No doubt the executors thought it too frail to be worth anything, or they may have thought it was but another cracked silk dress, as it lay in a trunk with its lavender lining outermost.

"It's not really worn. She must have had it made just before that accident that kept her bedridden afterward. But how old-fashioned! Look at those huge sleeves! Enough to make two coats. And that's an idea—"

Lou Em's pale cheeks flushed as she pulled out the sleeves and straightened the collar of the rich garment.

"Genuine mink, for aunt would scorn imitation. And with my hair—" She held a sleeve up against her face. "I'm not so ugly after all, with something beautiful on me. I'll just try that play. I thought of; I can only be laughed at, and maybe it'll work."

Swiftly she bundled the coat into the box in which her marked-down suit had come, and, leaving the old silk and cloth frocks of her legacy on the floor, hurried down the boarding house stairs. Saturday afternoon was not a good time for her experiment, but business girls cannot choose times.

The splendor of the new furrier's in the new building on the avenue of fashionable shops almost daunted Lou Em, but she would not give up, now that she was started.

"I have here a coat—" she stammered to the attendant.

"For the remodel, yes? See Mr. Moon."

Mr. Moon proved to be a young man with the most wonderful eyes and manners that Lou Em had ever approved of.

"How much will it cost?" she asked anxiously, trying to hide her foot with its cracked shoe. "Not too much, and could I—?"

"New lining, of course. Something neat in beige. And recut to fit you. Something smart. Say, a $150."

"Dollars?" inquired Lou Em faintly. He might as well have said kingdoms. She had as many as she had dollars.

"But the extra fur. There's a lot of that. Look how long and full the coat is, and those sleeves—couldn't you—that is—surely it's worth something, that fur."

Young Mr. Moon raised his eyebrows, and then he took a good look at Lou Em. He saw the cracked shoe and the too-much washed crepe blouse and the last year's hat. He saw something else, too, for Mr. Moon was really an observing as well as a good young man.

"Most unusual, Miss—Henly, was it? But I'll ask the boss. He's in, I think. Can't promise, though."

Lou Em sat in the pale-gray reception room then and prayed for the five minutes that seemed five hours until Mr. Moon returned, followed by a human volcano, carrying the mink coat.

Mr. Schonbrunn of Schonbrunn Bros. Inc., was not ordinarily an excitable man, but now he appeared to be one huge sputter.

"You get this, where? This—this—I myself make this complete, the first work I do when I finish the apprentice. The lining, how I fought the old lady about that. But she beat, and for doing as she said I got $50 extra."

"Ah, ah—the good old days when I was a young feller, them was. It makes me cry—"

Mr. Schonbrunn's eyes indeed were tearful.

"You want a coat? I'll make you a coat of good mink, a grand coat, lining the best I got, but this coat I don't cut. No. This coat hangs in my office in a glass case, as long as I got it an office. You know why? That $50 started me up. I traded a bit in small skins till I could leave the boss and start for myself. I come here—now look!"

Mr. Schonbrunn waved a prideful hand about the pale-gray salon, with its one priceless sable scarf on display.

"The lavender lining that made my fortune—" He stroked the silk caressingly. "Yes, you take the order, Moon. A mink coat of the best for the young lady. And you see to it personally. See that she's suited."

Mr. Moon would do that. Certainly he would. And there was much to talk about, Aunt Louise Emeline and the charities that probably need-

The SNAPSHOT GUILD
TRICK PICTURES—II

Trick snaps of a man talking to himself are easy. Double exposure does the job.

ACCIDENTAL double exposures, two pictures on one film, spoil many snapshots, though once in a while the result is amusing. But double exposure can also be used to produce trick pictures that astonish and baffle your friends.

All you need is a firm support for your camera, and a black background. Such a background is easy to obtain indoors at night if you have a broad doorway between two rooms. Simply pose your subject before the open doorway, with the room back of him dark. See diagram.

Two amateur "hood" bulbs in cardboard reflectors will provide enough light for box camera snapshots, if high speed film is used.
Place them as shown in the diagram,
keeping light out of the far room.

The trick picture shown above—a man arguing with himself—was made by double exposure. First, he sat down on one side of the card
table, and one picture was snapped.
Then he walked around to the other side of the table and posed for a second snapshot. Naturally, the film was not wound until after the second exposure, and the camera was not moved. If the camera had moved, the card table would have

A black background is needed for double-exposure trick pictures like this one. To get it, pose subjects before door of darkened room. S, subjects in doorway;
L, photo lights; C, camera.

shown blurred or as a double image.
That is why a firm camera support
—such as a tripod or table—is necessary.

"Ghost" pictures are produced by underexposure (for the ghost), and about the simplest way to achieve this is to reduce the light by moving it farther from the subject. Thus, if we had wanted the man standing to appear transparent and "ghostly," we could have moved our photo lights two to three feet farther away from him before making the second snapshot.

Try double-exposure tricks . . .
they're easy, and fun. I'll have some more tricks of a different type for you later on.

New York City Brushes Up for Fair of Century

NEW YORK — While the New York World's Fair 1939 speeds toward its opening on April 30, the city is preparing to receive 15,000,000 guests. The Fair will be the greatest party this town has ever thrown.

Grover A. Whalen

Thousands of workmen, artists and technicians are now engaged in finishing up the vast spectacle and large crews are at work on Manhattan Island, grooming hotels, apartment houses, theatres, and public buildings for the date when The World of Tomorrow will steal the show from the City of Today. "Going to the Fair" this year will mean two shows for the price of one so far as the out-of-town visitor is concerned. New York's Broadway, amusement center of the nation, will not rival, but will supplement entertainments at the Fair.

Extending in a broad arc beyond the New York State Marine Amphitheatre and along the eastern shore of Fountain Lake is the 280-acre Amusement area where gaiety will rule.

Million Dollar Show
At the amphitheatre, Billy Rose, Broadway's master showman, will present Eleanor Holm in his $1,000,000 extravaganza in which 300 dancing and swimming girls will take part. A curtain of water will shield the stage from the audience between the acts. The theatre will seat 10,000 persons.

Rides and thrills take up one section of the Amusement Area; games of every kind another, while still another section will hold exotic villages.

In the Cuban village, covering three acres, the atmosphere of Havana's cafes will be recaptured. Here the rumba and danzon will be danced to native orchestras and arroz con pollo will be on the menu.

In Merrie England visitors will watch Elizabethan games on the village green, eat ample slices of roast beef and walk the streets of Old London.

Old New York will be another village. Here the Bowery of the mauve decade will live again.

Admiral Richard Byrd's "Penguin Island" and "Sun Valley," a winter wonderland with a daily blizzard will bring a dash of frosty fun to the scene.

Thrills for the Kids

It is estimated that 2,000,000 children between the ages of 3 and 14 will visit the $1,000,000 Children's World. Admission to this zone will be free, although modest charges will be made for special entertainments including the diminutive restaurant.

In the "thrill section" will be found a parachute leap where visitors will experience all the excitement of "bailing out" without risking broken bones. An automatic, "fool-proof" mechanism will release the 'chutes in such a manner that folding up will be impossible. The landing will be gentle. While this is one of the latest hair-raising, the play center will be replete with coasters, wheels and rides of all varieties.

And to quote Grover A. Whalen, President of the Fair Corporation: "The World of Tomorrow" exposition will display the marvels of science, industry and art, and at the same time provide fun and gaiety for everyone."

TOWNSENDISM VS. GENERAL WELFARE

I believe that fully 90% of the American people believe that a federal old age pension is absolutely necessary. What it shall be and how administered is the problem that confronts Congress.

Many of our leading citizens believe that H. R. 11, known as the General Welfare Bill, now before the Ways and Means Committee, offers a better solution of the problem than any of the score or more plans that have been presented to Congress. The Hornell letter published in the Citizen last week and the following article give some idea of the sentiment towards this bill.

F. J. Tyler

"I believe wholeheartedly in pensions for the aged over 60, as do the American people as shown by the Gallup poll. And I am for the highest maximum of pension the American people will consent to give our aged, having in mind not only their own security, but the general benefits the country at large would derive from such measures. But I do have sense enough to know that the American people will never assent to, and no Congress ever pass, any pension bill naming a maximum of $200 a month, or anywhere near that figure. Yet there is an organization that has that sort of ball-and-chain forged around the ankles of the old folks, preventing them from getting in the quickest possible time the financial aid and assistance they so much need.

"Rule or Ruin" Attitude
"I know, as does every one, plenty of elderly families who, if they could get the pension of from $30 to $60 offered by the General Welfare Act, H. R. 11, would consider themselves in Heaven as compared with the hard, miserable, hand-to-mouth existence they are living now. I know of elderly people, plenty of them in this town, who have not what they ought to have to eat or wear, or keep them warm. People who are enduring days and nights of both mental and physical suffering because this Nation is too slow bringing aid to them. And, yet, in the face of these things known to everybody, the leader of the Townsend organization before the Ways and Means Committee, according to reports in the Congressional Record, took the position that if H. R. 2 (his own bill) could not be passed, then he would oppose the passage of H. R. 11 or any other bill. Such an attitude is beyond justification, for while he is holding out for something too crackpot and extravagant for the American people people to swallow, these unfortunate, needy old people will go on suffering and dying off for want of the aid they need NOW. And that surely is not 'social consciousness' as I understand the term.

Absurd Townsend Reasoning
"One time these Townsendsites will tell me their Plan does not call for $200 a month pensions, and in the next breath insist it must be that much to achieve its purposes. One time they'll tell me how the old folks need and demand $200 a month to live on decently, and in the next breath insist they will have to be forced by law to spend the money after they've received it. And one time they'll tell me how the smaller pensions of $50 or $60 a month, paid to the old folks, won't be of any aid or stimulus to industry, and in the next breath be telling me such pensions will set the wheels of industry madly whirling so that soon you can pay $200 a month! How can anyone cling to a Plan that's always kicking its own legs out from under itself? I couldn't. I quit trying. And so I commend to every one's consideration this G. W. A., H. R. 11."

A. A. Christie, S. Bond, Ind.

The regular meeting of the Bethel Townsend Club will be held at the Odd Fellows rooms Friday evening, April 14. The question of organizing a General Welfare club will be discussed.

Depth of Canyons
The greatest depth of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado is 5,560 feet; deepest point of Hell canyon of the Snake is 6,900 feet. The Snake canyon averages for 40 miles a depth of 5,500 feet, almost equal to the Grand canyon at its deepest spot.

Concrete Boundary Line Marker
The southwestern corner of California and of the United States, is defined by a concrete marker, surrounded by a rust-encrusted fence, which stands on the Mexican-United States boundary line in San Diego county, a few yards from the water of the Pacific ocean.
